The two primary types of refrigerators used in the healthcare industry are medical and laboratory refrigerators. They have to be incredibly hygienic and dependable, particularly when it comes to temperature regulation. Medication and vaccinations are kept in the best possible condition in medical freezers. They consist of refrigerators to hold vaccines, medical supplies, and prescription drugs. One of the leading Medical Refrigerators and Freezers Manufacturers in China and India is Naugra Medical. We manufacture and ship a wide range of medical freezers and refrigerators to medical centres and research centres, providing high-quality products at reasonable prices.
